Headline:
Early cloud and rain clearing to brighter spells and showers.

Today:
Cloudy start, with outbreaks of rain, heavy and persistent across some southern parts. Morning rain then clearing with brief sunny spells possible, but also a chance of one or two heavy afternoon showers. Rather cool for late July. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying rather cloudy with only limited clearer intervals. Most parts dry, but still a risk of occasional showers, heavy at times. Turning rather dull along some coasts. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Saturday:
Mainly grey start, especially along some coasts where mist and cloud could linger all day. Elsewhere the odd brighter spell is possible, but also occasional heavy showers. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Morning rain Sunday likely clearing south to brighter or sunny spells. Most parts dry Monday and Tuesday, with variable cloud, sunny spells, and a chance of showers. Staying rather cool.
